

VMS Development & Regulatory Service Charges 2018/2019

Contract Formulation Development

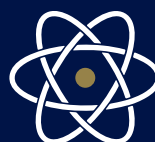

The origination of a product formulation in line with a prescribed product brief.

£250 per formulation

Formulation Development

The preparation of development samples in line with agreed formulation.

£400 per day

Bespoke New "Blue Sky" Product Development

The creation of bespoke new innovative product development, providing professional expertise from initial concept, through each stage of development including: formulation development, nutritional guidance, regulatory compliance, market approval, product labelling, product trials and launch.

On Request

Product Samples

Additional samples of agreed development formulations for testing / market research, registration etc.

£50 per hour

Regulatory Advice

Legality of formulation; pack copy generation; labelling advice; market regulations; artwork approval.

£65 per hour

Testing

Full suite of tests available utilising in house or externally accredited facilities.

On Request

Bespoke Technical Services

A range of professional technical solutions can be provided to support a variety of development and formulation challenges.

On Request

Packaging Design & Artwork Services

Packaging cutter set up, packaging design concept and packaging artwork.

On Request

We understand the diverse nature of our customer requests and that one size doesn't fit all. To help support you with the development of your product or brand we are pleased to offer a range of technical and professional services, which you may choose to include to as part of the work that we undertake on your behalf.

Our team of experts have a wealth of knowledge and experience that comes from being one of the UK's leading vitamin and mineral food supplements producers - supplying products throughout the EU and Internationally. Compliance is key, and with the benefit of this expertise you can be confident that your product will conform to all current legislation and regulation in the food supplement industry.

Our additional services cover everything from the initial formulation of your product through to the finished packaging and can be provided if you would like extra support with the development of your product.

For more information on these services, or to discuss a specific request, please speak to one of our sales team who will be happy to help.